A WEEKLY JOURNAL OF LOCAL NEWS AND HOME-READING.

Office: Over the Post Office.

Subscription: From 7.45 to 9 o'clock P. M., Wednesday, Thursday and Friday.

Special Notice.

The office of the CITIZEN is open Wednesday, Thursday and Friday evenings, from 7.15 to 9 o'clock. Contributions should be sent to the office not later than Thursday evening.

The author's name must accompany all communications or contributions to the CITIZEN (which will be published or not as desired). All others will be rejected.

ABOUT TOWN.

Mr. James Henly and family have moved to Brick Church.

The frame work for Dodd's new hotel is the first of the week.

Mr. John Griffith has accepted a position with the D. L. & W. Express Company.

Miss Nettie Cueman, of this place, is exhibiting the Hammond Type Writer at the American Institute Fair, in New York.

Last Friday afternoon the Fire Department was called to extinguish a fire at the house occupied by Mr. Fox, in the Bowery. The damage done was but slight.

The Hunt will hold their usual holiday meet on this place on Thanksgiving day, at 11.00 A. M. The meet this afternoon will be at Rutherford Park, at 3.30 P. M.

The Second Grand Invitation Poudre Party by Eastern Star Lodge, No. 570, K. and L. of Honor, of Bloomfield, will be given at Raab's Assembly Rooms on Thanksgiving eve.

Dr. J. H. Cotter, wife and boy, of Jackson Corner, Dutchess Co., N. Y., have been visiting their brother, William Cotter, photographer, Bloomfield, and were very favorably impressed by our beautiful village.

The ladies of Christ Church will hold a series of fancy articles, suitable for the holidays at Dodd's Hall, on the afternoons and evenings of Tuesday and Wednesday, December 23 and 24. Refreshments to order and hot dinner at 6 P. M.

The Road Board are now taking steps to advertise for sale the property assessed for the purpose of the road, and those property owners who do not pay their assessments before advertisement will be subject to the costs incurred.

The Township Committee met on Wednesday evening, but transacted but little business. A petition for 3 lamps on Liberty street, near the canal, was received. The Gallagher estate presented Clark street, Bloomfield. Several bills were presented and ordered paid.

The people who assembled at Judge Hadden's court room Thursday to hear the examination of J. W. Howell's case were disappointed, as Mr. Howell's counsel, E. S. Bovee, was sick and unable to be present. The Court adjourned the same case to Monday evening.

On Sunday morning just as the streets were being cleaned with people going to church, a fire broke out and a fire was discovered in Watessing. The companies went out and found that a defective fuse had started a fire in the house occupied by Pantony, on Watessing avenue. It was put out with but little difficulty.

The Phoenix Hose Company have the following officers for the ensuing year: E. W. Ward, Foreman; Wm. Ward, First Assistant; Emmons Freeman, Second Assistant; John R. Gillman, Secretary; W. T. Spencer, Treasurer, and Executive Committee composed of John S. Ward, Theodore Cadmus and Joseph Ward.

The ladies of the Church of the Sacred Heart will give a concert next Thursday evening at Catholic Union Hall. Among those to take part are Mrs. H. J. Sayers, Mrs. L. Walsh, Mrs. Hume, Mrs. A. L. Johnson and Messrs. O'Brien and Behan. The programme we should judge that will be of first class, and of good music should attend.

Miss Maggie A. Earl, of this place, and Mr. Edmund G. Edwards, were united in marriage at the residence of the bride's father, Mrs. T. Winsor Langstroth, on State street, at four o'clock, Wednesday P. M. The ceremony was performed by Rev. H. L. Bouman, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church. Later in the evening the bride and groom departed for a brief wedding tour.

Rev. Stephen Dekins, pastor of St. John's Reformed Catholic Church, of New York, will speak on the subject of Temperance, at the Union Temperance Meeting in Dodd's Hall, on Sunday afternoon, at half past three. Mr. Dekins is a ready, earnest and effective speaker. We are confident that all who attend will be pleased, both with the matter and the manner of his address.

The New Jersey Business College, 764 and 766 Broad Street, Newark, is open all the year. Day and evening sessions. Studies: Book-keeping, Penmanship, Arithmetic, Spelling, Correspondence, Composition, Actual Practice, German, Short-hand, Type-writing, etc. A special writing Department. A special Shorthand and Type-writing Department Resolutions engrossed. Business Educator free. C. T. Miller, proprietor.

Messrs. Maybee and English are expected to be in Bloomfield on the evenings of the first and second of December. They come at the invitation of, and to visit, the Reform Club, and the churches are in no way included in the matter. At least, we are so given to understand, the financial and other arrangements being under the care of the executive committee of the Club and the meetings being such as have been previously held here. We only know respecting the place of the meetings, that it will probably be the Reform Club Rooms in Dodd's Hall. The churches will not be used.

The New Jersey Business College, 764 and 766 Broad Street, Newark, is known throughout the State as one of the best equipped and most enterprising business schools. The principal has had an experience of twenty-five years in conducting schools, and as an educator, compares favorably with the best. The departments of Penmanship, Shorthand, German, Typewriting and business studies are taught by efficient and qualified teachers. The morals and manners of pupils are cultivated as an essential part of a business education. Parents should investigate the school, if desiring to educate their children for business.

At a meeting of the residents of the West End, vulgarly called Pelee town, it was unanimously resolved that "the thanks of the community of the hitherto dismal and now brightly effulgent neighborhood be extended to our Conscript Fathers, for their kindness in throwing light on our ways, and that we cheerfully consent to the township being taxed for the same; that in doing this, the said Conscript Fathers not only wish to brighten our paths, but to add to the lustre of Washington, whose road we follow; that we shall aid in re-electing them (the C. F.), if no better names be offered, and finally, that they go on with the good work even if it be necessary to find other streets to conquer."

The concert to be given in Catholic Union Hall, on Thanksgiving evening, from what we hear, is to be something excellent. A duo of violin and piano, a soprano solo, a vocal duo, a tenor solo, a second soprano solo and alto solo and closing with a quartette, for the first part; and for the second part, a duo, violin and piano, vocal duo, a vocal trio, a piano duo, a tenor solo, an alto solo, a soprano solo and closing with a grand chorus. Mrs. Farrington, Mrs. Walsh and Mrs. Hume, and the Misses O'Brien and Higgins, with Messrs. Walsh, Behan and O'Brien and an effective chorus, will fill the several numbers. We hope our readers will enjoy this entertainment, as it will doubtless be well worth attending.

The new primary school building which is being erected on Liberty street, is gradually nearing completion. A large force of carpenters, under the direction of C. M. Lockwood, are at work on the interior. There are four class rooms on each floor, 22x26 feet each, with 12 feet 6 inch ceiling on the first floor and 13 feet 6 inch ceiling on the second floor. The rooms are all well-lighted, and each one is supplied with a hot and cold air register. Thirty-two registers are in the building. Two large furnaces in the cellar heat the building. The walls are finished with a sand coat above the wainscot. Two large blackboards are made of plaster-finish wall in each room. The building will cost about $15,000, and will be ready for occupancy in about two months. Mr. Joseph K. Oakes is the architect.

The German Church fair and festival which was held in Library Hall, closed on Thursday evening, of last week, after a three days' run. The attendance was good on each evening, more especially so on the first and second when the Watessing Band was in attendance and furnished music free for the fair. The principal attraction was the voting table. A handsome gold-headed ebony cane was voted to the pastor, Rev. J. M. Ensslin. The names voted for were the pastor and the three deacons, Messrs. Farnoff, Keyler and Bickler. The pastor received 167 votes out of 180. Miss Jennie Raab drew a quilt and tea set. A toilet set was voted to Miss A. Schleif, who received 23 votes; Miss Maggie Keyler received 5; Miss S. Bohr, 6; Miss A. Ensslin, 14; 76 votes in all were cast. The society were successful in disposing of their entire stock, thus making the financial interest very favorable.

The New Stone Road.

The Broad street improvement is finished and is already working well.

The Township Committee has utilized all the money at their command in this improvement, (which is about $500, not including grading). While the road will be a success still it should have been made six or eight inches thick all the way over instead of six inches in the centre and four inches at the outside, and in making future improvements this will be taken into consideration. If this road works well (as it undoubtedly will), the improvement should be carried to the N. Y. and Greenwood Lake Railroad bridge, and to Bay Lane, if it can be done.

Phoenix Hose, Number 1.

On Monday evening, Nov. 17, 1884, the regular annual meeting of Phoenix Hose was held in its rooms. The report of the committee on parade to Montclair was received, and a vote of thanks passed to Montclair Hook & Ladder Co. for kindness, extended and entertainment. Resignation of Private Handy laid on table until report of reception committee on new hose carriage, of which committee he is chairman, be received and passed on. A couple of changes to By-Laws put under way, and then the election of officers for the ensuing year resulted as follows: Foreman, Mr. Ward; First Assistant, Mr. Curry; Second Assistant, Mr. J. E. Freeman; Secretary, Mr. Gilman; Treasurer, Mr. Spencer. After the customary parliamentary discussions and inevitable dues and assessment collections the meeting adjourned.

The New Hotel.

Since the large fire which burned the old Archdeacon Hotel with the dwellings attached, also Dodd's livery stables, nearly two years ago, Bloomfield has been destitute of a place worthy the name of a hotel. To fill this long felt want Mr. Kenben N. Dodd is now erecting a hotel on the ground formerly occupied by his stables, at the intersection of Broad street and Bloomfield avenue. The plans were prepared by Henry Yost, and are so arranged as to make a large parlor, reception room, billiard room and bar on the first floor. The second floor contains one parlor 16x43 feet, and seven bed rooms. The third floor will have eleven bed rooms. Three pair of stairs connect the first and second floor and two connect the second and third floor. The laundry will be placed in the cellar. The rooms of the first floor will be trimmed with yellow pine and ash. The second floor will be hard wood and papered walls, and the third floor will be trimmed with pine. The foundation of the building is 43 x 65 feet. Richard Jacobus has the contract for the mason work, and Mr. Charles W. Lockwood that of the carpenter work.

Obituary.

S. GROVER CROWELL.
Mr. S. Grover Crowell died on Wednesday morning at the residence of Mr. J. H. Randall, after several months of distressing illness.

Mr. Crowell was born in Newark, and was descended from the Grover family of Caldwell. His father was a Newark merchant of high standing, who died early in life, leaving a widow and four sons, each of whom became actively connected with the business of that city.

Mr. Crowell was for several years connected with the jewelry trade, being employed by Messrs. Richardson & Co. About 1872 he became a book-keeper in the office of the Mutual Benefit Life Insurance Co., but he was obliged to abandon that position because he found that close confinement was injuring his health. He then joined the firm of Crowell & Co., dealers in iron and steel, and for ten years has been active in the management of their business, continuing at his post until he became too feeble to leave his bed.

Mr. Crowell had many friends and relatives in Bloomfield, and after his marriage to Miss Gussie Randall resided in our town a considerable portion of the time. The funeral will take place to day at one o'clock from the residence of Mr. Randall, on Monroe Place.

Concert at Montclair.

The Park Choral Union, of Jersey City, and the Young Apollo Club, of New York, gave a concert in the Congregational Church, in Montclair, last Tuesday evening, and, considering the dubious weather, drew a large audience. The attendance from Bloomfield was small, on account of the other entertainments which took place at the same time. The concert consisted of selections from Gounod's Oration of "The Redemption," in the first part. Of these we would mention the recitative and trio, "The Holy Women at the Sepulchre," and the double chorus, "Unfold ye Portals Everlasting." Mr. Williams, the Director, accompanying the singers on the organ, rendering the above selections with a masterly hand. In the second part we would mention the duet, "David and Goliath," by George and Henry Bauer, as being very fine. George Bauer, the boy singer, has a soprano voice of great compass, easily reaching the high notes, which are very sweet and clear. His brother has a fine bass voice of great depth.

Mrs. Luther and Mrs. DeRyther sang Rossini's duet, "Quis est Homo," and received an encore. By request, Mr. J. W. Black sang the old Scotch ballad, "When the Kye can Hame."

Mrs. DeRyther has a rich and full contralto voice, and her solos were listened to with great pleasure, especially in Cowen's song, "It was a Dream." There are others we would like to mention, but want of space will not permit; we therefore content ourselves with congratulating the managers on the success of the entertainment. After the concert the ladies of the church gave a collation in the parlor of the church to the singers and guests who came from out of town, to which full justice was done, especially by the Young Apollo Club.

The Westminster Entertainment.

The managers and subscribers of the Lyceum Course are to be congratulated upon the auspicious opening of the winter's programme. The chapel was filled with as fine an appearing audience as one often sees or cares to see. Its quality was as fine as its appearance; it was attentive, appreciative and discriminating. What was poor was coldly received, but what was good was heartily applauded.

This was well illustrated in the first part of the evening. The indifferent work with which the several performers opened the programme was not much applauded, and there was not a single encore till the latter portion of part first. After this, everything was encoored and the enjoyment was evident. The entertainment, taken as a whole, was very decidedly successful. We do not believe a dissatisfied person could have been found in the audience.

Mr. Burdett began his evening's work with Miss Jennie McNeil's Riding Exploit. Now, we have heard this murdered only less frequently than the Light Brigade by rising elocutionists and so cannot endure it with patience, but it did not seem to please the rest any better. But the rest of Mr. Burdett's work was very pleasing to all. His recitation of Robert Burdett's musings upon the up-side-downness of things in general and Brother Bill's experience excited almost continuous laughter.

The Weber Quartette is a curiosity. The quartette pieces were fine, but when they exhibited the different materials out of which the mixture was made, the wonder was how they did it. Mr. Keyes should not sing love songs as solos. No man or maiden of the most stricken sort could be enticed by such a declaration of "I love thee."

Mr. Keyes' voice is true, strong and effective in quartette, but not adapted to solo singing, if this effort is a good sample. Messrs. Drew and Simms sang a duet. Their efforts were not successful. Mr. Simms is poor material, indeed, and Mr. Drew sang as through a quill or straw. After this came the Tar's Farewell, by the entire quartette, and it was well done. The singers were recalled and sang a short piece as an encore.

All the music of the second part of the programme was well received, but decidedly the best work was done by Mr. Macy, the bass. He is indeed a fine singer, and he acts as well as he sings. He has a magnificent voice and knows perfectly well how to use it. His rendering of his part in the trio was worthy of the Casino. He would make a success in opera. In fact, we heard it stated that he had already tried his hand at it. Be that as it may, his performance Tuesday night was of the first class.

The audience, as it passed out, looked on an average seven years younger than when it passed in, and the satisfied smiles on the faces of two or three of the managers who stood near the door said plainer than words, we told you so; beat that, if you can. We wish them success.

Thanks.

The inhabitants of Mount Pisgah, of Pelee Town, of West End and of Washington avenue wish, through your columns, to extend their sincere, earnest and heartfelt thanks to the Township Committee, Gas Committee, Gas Company and whoever assisted in the illumination of Washington street last evening. The pipes are laid, the lamp posts erected and the gas is lighted. We are happy.

Mr. Pisgah.
West End, Nov. 14, 1884.

Bazaar and Festival.

A bazaar and festival will be held at Berkeley school house, on Friday afternoon and evening, Nov. 28th, commencing at 3 o'clock, for the benefit of Berkeley Union Sunday-school. Articles, both useful and ornamental, contributed by the ladies interested in the Sunday school, will be for sale at reasonable prices. Amongst these will be articles suitable for Christmas presents. Provisions will be provided, and those who call early will find no necessity to return home for supper. Ice cream, lemonade and candies in profusion. It is hoped there will be a liberal attendance. Admission, ten cents.

COME AND SEE THE Stone Crushing Plant,

NOW IN OPERATION ON THE N. Y. & G. L. R. R., NEAR THE CANAL.

The capacity of the present plant is from 40 to 50 tons a day, or 1,000 to 1,200 tons a month. Without the delay incident to the grading, Broad Street, could have been laid, rolled and finished in ten days. The stone used (Trap Rock) is the hardest known, and the success of the present work on Broad Street insures a larger outlay and a more economical working of the Roads of Township in coming years. For private roads and walks it is also a good thing.
